

BROOKLYN NEWS.

HARRIS OUT OF IT.

Declines the Shepard Nomination for County Register.

Enlisted for Schieren's Term and Feels Bound to Serve It Out.

"Cotton Broker Henry Hentz Substituted for Him on the Ticket."

The Shepard wing of the Democratic party in Kings County last night lost its nominee on their third county ticket in the person of Frederick W. Harris, the present Registrar of Arraers.

Mr. Harris was nominated by the Shepards for County Register to run against Granville W. Harman, Republican, and Michael J. Cummings, the regular Democrat.

Mr. Harris has sent the following letter to Charles J. Patterson, Mr. Shepard's right-hand man, which gives his reasons for declining to run. In it he says:

"Though this is just the kind of thing I would have liked to do, I am quite clear that I ought not to accept the nomination. The Republican organization has signally failed this year in its duty to the city and its administration. That is to reason though why I, a Democrat, should feel as well. It looks now unless good citizens resolutely do their duty without regard to party, as if the city would return to the old order of things next year, and that, alas, by reason of the savage appetites for all the offices which the Republicans in their folly have exhibited."

If such fully succeed with the public, then all friends of good government must lose heart. The folly is hardly to be credited. But it is. In complying with Mayor Schieren's request to accept office, I found myself, I think to him and to Brooklyn, to continue with his administration to the end of his term, provided that the Mayor should so long desire my services and advice. He has certainly sustained me in all that I have sought to do. Now, it seems to me that it would not be right to accept this nomination so generously tendered to me, and at the same time retain my present office. Many of those who know me well and understand what I have accomplished and am still to accomplish in the Department of Arraers, might indeed find no fault in my remaining in office, but I cannot do so. I have sought to do in every relation of life, avoid even the appearance of wrong."

"I reluctantly decline the very great honor which has been conferred upon me, and I shall assist you in every way in my power in your effort to secure a better business administration for our city and county, and shall do my best to promote the election of any honorable man to my office. In my place, I deserve to win, and there is, I believe, no man in Brooklyn, even this year, to give us the victory."

Mr. Patterson received this letter yesterday, and last night the Executive Committee of the Shepard wing met and selected Mr. Harris as their candidate.

The man named to succeed Harris on the ticket is Henry Hentz, a cotton broker, of 709 St. Mark's avenue. Mr. Hentz is a native of New York, and is a member of the New York Cotton Exchange, and was at one time President of the New York Produce Exchange.

Mr. Hentz was one of the early settlers in the Bedford district, Brooklyn, and lived there until he moved to Bedford village. He is also a member of the Brooklyn Athletic Club, and is understood Mr. Hentz has accepted the nomination.

WANT TO BE SUPERVISORS. Nominees Named by Brooklyn Political Parties.

The following are some of the Shepard nominees for Supervisors, made at the Ward Conventions in Brooklyn last night:

Sixth, P. J. Cronin; Tenth, J. J. Donnelly; Twelfth, Lawrence O'Hare; Twenty-second, Thomas Garry; Twenty-fourth, J. Z. Powdley.

The regular Democrats nominated the following: Sixth, Eugene J. Judge; Eighth, M. A. Cummings; Tenth, J. J. Donohue; Twelfth, Robert O'Donnell; Eighteenth, John Holmes; Twenty-second, Adam J. Biss; Twenty-eighth, James Nida.

The following are the Supervisors nominated at the Republican and Conservative last night: Fourth, Henry W. Squire; Sixth, J. J. O'Brien; Eighth, T. J. Plunkett; Tenth, Samuel Resner; Twelfth, Thomas F. McNamee; Fourteenth, Patrick J. Lynch; Sixteenth, Martin Seibert; Eighteenth, Joseph E. Brown; Twentieth, George G. Gotsinger; Twenty-second, Simon Donovan; Twenty-fourth, John C. Walker; Twenty-sixth, John C. Walker; Twenty-eighth, James Boyd.

Among the Independent Democrats this morning it was generally believed that George Kinkel would accept the nomination of City Comptroller, Bernard York said that he expected to receive a letter to-day from Mr. Kinkel accepting the nomination.

If the new blood in the organization succeeded in forcing George Kinkel to resign, the regular Democratic State ticket, the Executive Committee will nominate two men in their places.

The latest additions to the Assembly nominations filed in Brooklyn this morning were: Second District, Shepard party, W. J. O'Keefe; Third District, regular Democrat, William J. Jarnett.

The Independent Democrats in Sheepshead Bay will meet tonight to indorse the regular Democratic State ticket, the meeting will be held in Soeller's Hall. Most of them were former members of the Shepard party. They resigned when a third ticket was placed in the field, among the men who were who are to be present to-night are Frank Clark, Edward Heffner, Daniel Heffner, Robert Smith and Frederick Edwards.

IN M'KANE'S OLD DISTRICT. A Wrangle in the Court over the Supervisor's Term Probable.

The Republican party of the Thirty-first Ward of Brooklyn, formerly the town of Gravesend, held its Convention last night at the Victoria Hall, on Surf street, James E. Gilkinson, who runs a concert hall on the old pier during the warm season, was nominated for Supervisor, John Y. McKane's old office.

After wrangling for more than an hour, Joseph Gleason, an ex-policeman of the McKane squad, was nominated for Constable. This office is considered a great plum at Coney Island, paying in fees in one year as high as $7,000. Constable "Scotty" Jamieson, now serving his term in the Kings County Penitentiary, testified at the McKane trial that his fees during that year were more than $6,000.

About the Supervisorship, many in the town claim that all nominations for that

WHOM IS TELLING THE TRUTH?

Contradictory Testimony at the Trial of Detective Zundt.

His Story Flatly Contradicted by Sleuths McManus and Lang.

Rank perjury was committed by some one at the trial of Detective Zundt.

George W. Zundt, before Police Commissioner Welles, of Brooklyn, this morning, was on trial for failing to pay to the Police Pension Fund to two cents of the reward which he received from Charles M. Patterson, a New York merchant, for recovering a diamond stolen while the latter was riding on an Elevated train in Brooklyn.

The trial was the outcome of Mr. Patterson's testimony before the Lexow Committee, in which he practically declared that the New York and Brooklyn detectives were in a scheme to swindle him.

Former Deputy Police Commissioner Zundt was the first witness called, testified that Zundt had received the reward which he received from Patterson, and that he had been paid for it.

Zundt told me that the money was to go to the New York detectives who had recovered the diamond, they were to receive the money, and he had been paid for it.

Mr. Patterson said that under the police rules, which he had framed, Zundt had been paid for the reward, and he had been paid for it.

Zundt next testified that he had been paid for the reward, and he had been paid for it.

Continuing, he said that the New York detectives, McManus and Lang, had been paid for the reward, and he had been paid for it.

NEW JERSEY.

Little Nellie Drake Meets with an Accidental Death.

Police Watching that He Does Not Commit Suicide.

The Child's Mother, at the Point of Death, Is Ignorant of the Accident.

(Special to The Evening World.) NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 16.—Oscar Drake, a young man of Metuchen, N. J., accidentally shot and killed his niece, Nellie Drake, six years old at the residence of his grandmother, Mrs. Madison Drake in East Metuchen, five miles from New Brunswick, at 10 o'clock this morning.

Drake, who is twenty-four years old, and unmarried, was cleaning the guns in the house preparatory to a shooting expedition. He had finished with one gun, Nellie Drake sat on the front porch of her grandmother's home watching Oscar Drake.

He took the second gun by the stock and gave it a sharp rap with his hand to open the breech to remove the cartridge. It was then that

An explosion followed, and the full charge of heavy shot went straight into the breast of the child, who was hardly two feet away. The heavy charge tore away the flesh, and death followed instantly.

Coroner McDevide viewed the body and deemed an inquest unnecessary. Justice Theodore A. Wood presided over the inquest, which was held at the residence of the child's mother.

The child's mother is very ill and the news has been kept from her.

READINGTON'S OLD CHURCH. To Celebrate Its One Hundred and Seventy-fifth Anniversary.

(Special to The Evening World.) FLEMINGTON, N. J., Oct. 16.—The Reformed Church of Readington, nine miles from here, will celebrate its one hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary to-morrow. This church is one of the oldest in the section of New Jersey, and an elaborate program has been prepared.

The church was founded in 1719 by emigrants who came direct from Holland in 1708. Though the organization of this church was preceded by the Dutch Reformed Church of Readington, which was organized in 1699 and 1700, the Reformed Church of Readington was organized in 1719, and its spirit was the first one between the waters of the Raritan and those of the Delaware.

The church was destroyed by fire and a new one was built the next year, which still stands near the old site, and is now used as a dwelling.

The first minister of the Readington church was Rev. Theodorus Jacobus Frelinghuysen.

In the evening addresses will be made by the following sons of the church who are still preaching: Gilbert Lane, Montpelier, N. J.; John Thompson, D. New Brunswick, N. J.; Horace P. Craig, Churchville, Pa.; John L. Stillwell, Bloomington, N. Y.; Herman Hageman, High Falls, N. Y.; Andrew Hageman, Buffalo, N. Y.; and Elias Thompson, of Havana, Ill.
